

Roundtable: London

Enterprise Philanthropy: Going beyond the bounds of tradition

---

Date	Wednesday 23 September 2015
Time	17:00 registration for 17:30-19:00, followed by networking reception
Host	Maurice Turnor Gardner
Venue	15th Floor, Milton House, Milton Street, EC2Y 9BH
CPD	90minutes (1.5 hours) self-certified CPD points
Panel	Mark Goldring, Oxfam; George Petty, Venture South; Chris West, Sumerian Partners; Nick Mason, BeyondMe; Jonathan Barnow, TechnoServe

---

Enterprise has a critical role to play in poverty reduction. One of the key debates currently is whether international development has outgrown traditional aid and donations. Indeed a key element of the upcoming round of Sustainable Development Goals is the reduction of poverty through enterprise.

Philanthropy is changing. Influential donors, whether private philanthropists or foundations, internationally, are contributing not only significant gifts but also skills and expertise from their experience in the private sector, to developing countries. But how do philanthropists prioritise their donations and what exactly do recipient beneficiaries need to effect change? What role can enterprise philanthropy play in creating sustainable, scalable solutions to poverty? Is there still a place for traditional philanthropy? What practical challenges are presented by enterprise philanthropy?

The panel will discuss these issues and crucially, who is taking the risk in transitioning progressive SMEs into sustainable businesses. The panel will debate the relative advantages and drawback of traditional philanthropy vs more enterprising initiatives coming from private, academic and technological sectors.

This event is developed in partnership with Oxfam

Register online by 21 September

This event is free for Philanthropy Impact members. Register online at www.philanthropy-impact.org

Non-members: £30/£50

Philanthropy Impact

Our vision is to increase philanthropy and social investment across borders, sectors and causes.

Our mission is to achieve greater sector knowledge and expertise. Through our links with key sector stakeholders we develop thought-leadership on philanthropy and social investment.

We do this by delivering activities that include:

- Events: a comprehensive programme of events that support professional training and development
- Publications and Research: our 'body of knowledge' guides, case studies and the acclaimed Philanthropy Impact Magazine
- Advocacy: we advocate for policies and regulations that encourage philanthropic giving and social investment

Philanthropy Impact would like to thank

MAURICE | TURNOR | GARDNER

For generously hosting this roundtable

---

Making sense of and inspiring philanthropy